

Submittee: Matthew Musson

Date Submitted: 2009-07-22 13:08

Title: Canadian Young Researchers Conference in Mathematics and Statistics

Event Type: Conference-Workshop

Location:

University of Calgary

Dates:

July 17th - 19th, 2009

Topic:

Graduate student conference in all areas of mathematics and statistics

Methodology:

Lectures; Public Lecture by Richard K. Guy titled: How Not to be a Graduate Student.

Scientific Highlights:

As the conference saw two concurrent sessions, two awards for best talk in each session were given. The winners were: Lino Demasi, Simon Fraser University and Cody Holder, University of Alberta

Organizers:

Musson, Matthew. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary. Rapke, Tina. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary. Silvester, Alan. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary. Tang, Adrian. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary. Rozenhart, Pieter. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary. Holder, Cody. Mathematics and Statistics, University of Calgary.

Speakers:

See Attached.

Links:

cyr.math.ucalgary.ca
